After writing at considerable length about the country between the Red Deer and Edmonton. He finishes by saying: "The people who have been in the country for a number of years have a very healthy look, and I can see no reason why a person of moderate means, who was willing to put up with a very modified sort of pioneering, could not do very well, considering the deepness of land and the many resources of the country in the way of coal, wood and minerals, in addition to the rich prairie soil."

LAST Thursday's train arrived from the south half an hour late. Amongst the passengers were Arch. Baker, C. P. R. agent, London, England, John Ennis, of the Allan line, Robt. MACLEOD TOWNSITE.

A very largely attended meeting was held at Macleod on the 27th ult., to hear the results of an interview between Mr. Jas. Ross, of the C. & E. railway, and some of the Macleod citizens. Mr. Cowdry explained to the meeting that Mr. Ross thought it was unfortunate the town of Macleod had taken up its present position and also thought the town had treated him badly. After the meeting heard all Mr. Cowdry had to say of the interview, the following motion was passed: "That as our present position has been forced upon us by the C. & E. Railway Co., and as numbers of buildings are in course of construction as the result of the attitude of the people of Macleod, that we do not feel justified in making any proposition for the removal of the present town. But if Jas. Ross should make any proposition for the extension of the C. & E. road to our town, that we will consider it favorably." Then a society was formed to be called "The Town Meeting" with a committee consisting of Messrs. Wood, George, Hicks, Cowdry, Evans, J. B. Smith and C. Ryan, for the purpose of looking after the interests of the town and working up incorporation. It was also arranged that steps be taken to get all freight in by Lethbridge rather than by the C. & E. railway, and the support of Lethbridge citizens has been asked.

COURT.

In the court report of last issue, the case of Lamoureux vs. Squarebrigs should have read, "judgment for plaintiff for $120 and costs, and counter claim of defendant dismissed"; and in the case of Vance vs. Ross, "judgment for defendant on counter claim. Taylor for defendant; Bown for plaintiff."

AN agent for the Ronald steam fire engines has gone to Lethbridge with a steamer for that place, and intends to visit Edmonton soon on the chance of getting an order from the town.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, OCTOBER 24, 1892

THE NEW MINISTER OF INTERIOR.

The appointment of Hon. T. M. Daly as minister of interior will be hailed with satisfaction throughout Manitoba and the Northwest for one good reason, if for no other, namely that it means the retirement of the late minister from active politics. That gentleman was not a statesman, he was not a politician, he had not the ordinary ability of an ordinary public man, he was not a representative man, he was simply a lucky adventurer, or rather parasite, the cause of whose rise and progress was as mysterious as his lack of political honesty or ability was apparent. His administration of Northwest affairs in one capacity or another covers the period since 1881, and no man can honestly deny that to his baneful influence and advice has been due to a greater extent than to any other cause, the non fulfillment of the bright promises which were held out ten years ago, and are only now beginning to be realized since his influence has waned. It was fitting that the man who signified the opening of his Northwest career with the Regina land swindle, and the meridian of whose power was marked by the Northwest rebellion, should in his closing year attempt to wreck the two oldest towns in the Northwest, Edmonton and Macleod, purely as a business speculation for self and friends.

Of the new minister it can truthfully be said that he is a man of considerable ability, that he is strictly a representative man, that there has as yet been no reason to think him of the sticky fingered variety, that he owes his elevation to no mysterious influence, and that as he depends for his future advancement upon the success of his present administration, there is a fair presumption that Northwest affairs will be administered more nearly from a Northwest point of view now than ever before. As compared with any other Manitoba member he is infinitely preferable. Of the Northwest members the BULLETIN would have preferred either Mr. Macdowell or Mr. Davin, and certainly had it been possible for the former gentleman to have accepted the position, would have been anxious to make every possible effort to secure his elevation. As Mr. Macdowell cannot see his way clear to accept the position, and as Mr. Davin has possibly lost to some extent the necessary confidence of his party leaders, Mr. Daly is certainly the next choice, even for the Northwest, as he is no doubt the first for Manitoba.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Dewdney will be succeeded in East Assiniboia by a representative man, and that no outsider will again be foisted upon the electors of that constituency, or if the attempt is made that they will reject such a candidate. The constituency has a number of local men well able to represent it. Such a man is J. R. Neff, M.L.A. for Mooseomin, a member of the Haultain executive, and while a strong conservative, is as sturdy a contender for Northwest rights, in adversity as well as in success.

SPORTS.

It is a well-known fact to sportsmen that in playing football, lacrosse, etc., the visiting team is at a disadvantage, for several reasons—the principal one being, the best team can hardly ever be got together to leave home.

The Calgary cricket team came to Edmonton and played our best team and beat them; then again when Edmonton cricket team—not our best—went to Calgary, they again beat them, so no one can doubt but that the Calgary cricket team is better than the Edmonton team. Then again the Edmonton base ball team beat their opponents in Edmonton, but Calgary got ahead in Calgary. As for the Edmonton lacrosse team it journeyed to Calgary and got defeated, and while there arrangements were made that the Calgary team should come here and try their luck the way of a return match; but P. L. McNamara received a telegram from the Calgary lacrosse club, "Sorry cannot come on 19, tried hard, no go, writing." This was received on the 11th inst. and no letter has yet been received. This is rather poor for Calgary.

While the Edmonton teams were in Calgary one of the Calgary football players lead some of the Edmonton boys to believe there was a good chance of a Calgary football team visiting Edmonton this fall; so on the arrival of the teams from Calgary a meeting was held, a football club formed and a challenge sent at once to the secretary of the Calgary football club, asking them if they could come here and play a match, but the Calgary secretary has not thought it worth his while to answer it. If Calgary teams cannot come here they might at least have the civility to answer the letters.

DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.

THE amateur dramatic entertainment, given in aid of the Church of England organ fund, in Robertson's hall, last Thursday and Friday, proved a great success in every way. The hall was well filled with an enthusiastic audience. The entertainment was composed of two farces and a number of songs and instrumental music. The first part was a farce "Ici on parle Français," which was very amusing, and every character well played. The scene was a fashionable watering place, where Mr. and Mrs. Spriggins take cheap apartments intending to take in boarders, they soon obtain two, a lady and gentleman, who just got settled nicely when the jealous husband, who had lost the train and been left behind, turns up at the same lodging house in a great hurry, jealous of everyone and principally his wife's fellow lodger. Through the cowardliness of Mr. Spriggins things go all wrong for a while, but are soon cleared up and go as smoothly as ever, and Mr. and Mrs. Spriggins agree never to take in lodgers again. The second part consisted of songs and a duet given by Miss Phillips and P. L. McNamara, all of which seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed and many were encore. The third part was a very laughable farce entitled "Chiseling," in which Larkspur, a useless, good-for-nothing sculptor, aspires to the hand of a lady, who is both handsome and rich; the guardian of the young lady agrees to the marriage on condition that Larkspur's masterpiece will stand his severe criticism. The sculptor, who is no sculptor, decides upon dressing up and powdering his man servant, Trotter, to represent Alexander the Great. The old guardian gives to see the masterpiece, is charmed with it and gives his ward up; but Alexander the Great Trotter, being a drunkard, gets very full while representing the statue and spoils everything; but this also finishes satisfactorily to everyone.

The following is the programme: Part I—"Ici on parle Français." Major Regulus Rattan, Mr. F. S. Glover; Victor Dubois, R. Vaudin; Mr. Spriggins, J. R. Michael; Mrs. Spriggins, Miss Robertson; Angelina, her daughter, Miss Segers; Mrs. Rattan, Miss Peters; Anna Maria maid of all work, Miss Matheson. Part II—Quartette, "The Gipsy Star," by Messrs. Raymer, Becher, Fortin and Randall; song, "Goodwin Sands," Mr. Becher; duet, violin and piano, Miss Phillips and P. L. McNamara, encore 1; "The Sentinel," encore "The Sexton," A. G. Randall; "Good-bye," by E. Raymer. Part III—"Chiseling."—Larkspur, sculptor, F. S. Glover; Trotter, his servant, J. R. Michael; Dr. Stonecrop, R. Vaudin; Mrs. P per, a land lady, Miss Segers; Kate, Stonecrop's niece, Miss Matheson. In Friday's performance the concert part of the programme was changed a little, when Mr. Becher sang "Marguarite," encore, "All in a Garden Fare"; duet, violin and piano, P. L. McNamara and F. Cory, encored.

WALLACE ELECTION.

Messrs. Cayley and Haultain are electioneering in the constituency of Wallace, Eastern Assiniboia. Should the Haultain candidate be elected his party will be enabled to elect the speaker and have a majority of one on the floor of the house. If the Cayley candidate is elected it will simply enable that gentleman, with the help of the lieutenant-governor, to continue the deadlock. Mr. Cayley is the resident member of the Northwest executive and as such draws a salary of something like $8 a day. Will he continue to draw this salary while electioneering to save his precious political neck, or will he do as Mr. Haultain did when absent from Regina last winter, although on government business: that is give up his salary during his absence? The contest is fortunate for Mr. Haultain in that it gives him the opportunity to publicly vindicate himself from the charge of having a haughty demeanor, which is the most serious that has been made against him, and also the opportunity to size down the junior member for Calgary in public, as that gentleman was careful not to give him the opportunity to in the assembly. No doubt Mr. Cayley relies on having control of the purse strings to influence the constituency in his favor, but he may fall as short in this calculation as he already has in others.
